The Honorable Barack Obama
President of the United States
1600 Pennsylvania Avenue
Washington, DC 20500

Dear Mr. President:

Thank you for your leadership to make college more affordable in order to expand opportunity and strengthen our economy. We appreciate that, in a time of intense budget pressures, your education reforms seek to maximize the return on taxpayer investment and eliminate waste, fraud and abuse. That is why we firmly support the Department of Education's prompt adoption of a strong and enforceable "gainful employment" rule. We urge you to issue a final rule now that will protect students and taxpayers no later than the start of the 2012-13 academic year.

Numerous investigations have revealed pervasive abuses by some career education programs: deceptive and aggressive recruiting of students; inflated job placement rates and false reporting to authorities; overstatement of a program's value and understatement of its high cost; and dismal completion rates. Too many of these programs are preying on low-income students, minority students, and veterans who are seeking to further their education and, by doing so, enhance their employment opportunities.

The proposed gainful employment rule implements requirements set by Congress and advances a common-sense principle: Federal financial aid shouldn't go to career education programs that consistently leave students buried in debt they cannot repay.

The subprime mortgage debacle and ensuing financial crisis taught our country a hard lesson about letting such abuses run rampant. You have an opportunity, right now, to make the right decision for our students and our economy by strengthening and finalizing this common-sense rule. We will support you every step of the way.
